■Review of those who have been immunized

We received the following reviews from those who received the immunization.

“There was a great sense of cleanliness, and I was comfortable with anti-infectious measures. The guidance was smooth and I did not wait at all, so there was no stress. I am surprised that I received an antipyretic agent. I was pleased to have received it here, despite worrying about whether I received it”. (Woman in her 20s, September 16)

“There was a lot of staff, so I could go smoothly without wondering where and what I should do next. I also thought that they were improving efficiency by making the booking for the next vaccination during waiting time. I thought that raising turnover rates in places where people gather would be a countermeasure against infections, so it was a very good environment in terms of countermeasures against infectious diseases”. (Woman in her 20s, September 16)

We operate the infection control measures in accordance with strict rules to prevent the spread of infections; the employees work from home if they can, and those who need to go to office thoroughly take their temperature and disinfect.

Going forward, our Group will continue to give top priority to preventing the spread of infections both inside and outside the companies and to ensuring the safety of our business partners, participants and employees and their families, and will promptly decide and implement response policies based on policies and action plans by the government and health centers.
